Children are able to talk about their feelings in a controlled way and acknowledge problems can be solved.	PHSE lessons are regular Circle time etc. Whole school award - Class ethos is agreed on a classroom charter to ensure all children feel safe to talk about their feelings.	Circle time allows a child to share anything on their mind and seek support or advice from children and adults in the room. It creates an emotionally safe ethos in the classroom and the children will always feel happy to share their thoughts/fears/worries. This will mean the teacher is aware of concerns early on before they become a catalyst for anger.	Children understand that they can talk about their feelings in class Every child has an identified Special Adult	Emma-Jane Sadler	July 2019
Children make expected or better attainment and talk with enthusiasm about their academic achievements	Termly pupil progress meetings will inform how the children are achieving. All lessons instill in children the purpose of learning and the desire to learn. Making mistakes is seen as part of this journey.	Children who are not on track will gain support from intervention (subject support, nurture, forest school, specialist support). The children understand the importance of 'the joy of not knowing' and of having a growth mindset.	Lessons will be monitored by Senior Leadership team Children will be interviewed about purposeful learning. Learning leaders will help to organize and maintain initiatives	Richard Burbage	July 2019
PP children's Maths improves in line with non-PP children	Children will receive appropriate pre-teaching / intervention.	Children gain in confidence and are more likely to share their learning when they have been part of pre teaching / interventions Children have a more positive approach to their learning. when they feel well supported and encouraged.	Pupil progress meetings will review intervention given and progress made.	Jane Young	July 2019
Families work together with the school to raise progress and standards	Staff, parents and children will meet to determine next steps and the support that is needed.	Everyone agrees what the expected outcomes are and realise the importance of working together and the impact that it will have.	Staff will arrange appropriate meetings.	Jane Young	July 2019

Children are able to talk about their feelings in a controlled way and acknowledge problems can be solved.	Some PP children will attend nurture groups to talk about their feelings. – a qualified nurture teaching assistant is employed to run these sessions.	Children open up and learn strategies to cope with feelings. They find solutions to problems or friendship issues and then they can then become more engaged in school work.	A register is kept to monitor who is attending these sessions. Appropriate assessment will be completed at the beginning of the sessions and after 12 weeks to monitor for impact. The results will then be reviewed.	Emma-Jane Sadler	July 2019
Children make expected or better attainment and talk with enthusiasm about their academic future.	Pupil progress meetings will focus on how the PP children are achieving (attainment and progress), how they are feeling about their future and the areas of the curriculum they find strength. Assemblies will encourage children to be ambitious and consider their strengths and where they might use them.	Children are inspired by stories of people who have achieved something even if they once thought they wouldn't. They can begin to see that school teaches them skills which can easily be used in many careers – this will explicitly show them how what they are learning can lead to a job they will enjoy or a University course they will enjoy.	Feedback from staff will inform SLT as to whether the children are attaining / progressing as expected and in comparison to their peers. Monitoring will show children can discuss how what they are learning in class can be used as a skill outside the classroom.	Richard Burbage	July 2019
PP children's maths improves in line with non-PP children	Ensure PP children receive the additional support / challenge that they need. These children are clearly identified on plans and carefully tracked.	This time makes them feel valued. This time makes them see that Maths is positive and can be enjoyed.	Feedback from staff will inform SLT as to whether the children are attaining / progressing as expected and in comparison to their peers.	Jane Young	July 2019
Families work together with the school to raise progress and standards	Children, parents and teachers will meet if it is considered that the children are not succeeding to their potential. Our PSA will be asked to work with families who need support.	By helping families to make the changes that they want to make they feel in control and more positive.	Families are more engaged with their children's learning.	Jane Young	July 2019
